The profession of social work is one of the projected areas of need in human services over the next several years. This degree will provide students with the opportunity to work in positions such as a Michigan Payment Worker. This person determines an applicant's eligibility for financial assistance programs and maintains ongoing cases. The work involves frequent contact with the clients and others to obtain and verify information needed to approve services under various financial assistance programs, food assistance, medical assistance, and other programs administered by the Michigan Department of Human Services. The average pay for this job is $10 to $14 per hour. This degree transfers well to four-year institutions.
