

Evidence of Financial Support

U.S. immigration regulations require nonimmigrant students seeking F-1 visa status to present proof of financial support to cover all study and living expenses for the first year of study. Privately sponsored students must submit a Declaration of Financial Support from the sponsor stating the amount that will be provided in addition to financial documentation. We cannot issue an I-20 Certificate of Eligibility—which is required for a visa—until we receive this documentation. Evidence of financial support may be submitted with the application for admission or after you have been admitted to the college.
